ADMINISTRATIVE AND FINANCIAL—LOCAL, 1914.

RESOLUTION.

Local Authorities Loans Act, 1914.

No. 1015-A.—Previous to the passing of the Local Authorities Loans Act of 1914, the law relating to the borrowing powers of local authorities was to be found in the following three Acts, as amended from time to time:—

- (1) Act XI of 1879, known as "The Local Authorities Loans Act."
- (2) The Local Authorities (Emergency) Loans Act (Act XII of 1897) which empowered local authorities to borrow money for temporary contingencies.
- (3) Act III of 1904 which empowered local authorities to raise short-term loans.

The consolidation of the law effected by the Act of 1914 has rendered it necessary to consolidate also the existing statutory rules issued under the above Acts, &c., those published with the Notifications mentioned below, as subsequently amended:—

- (1) No. 44th A., dated the 24th October 1907, regarding the grant of loans to local authorities by Government.
- (2) No. 44th A., dated the 24th October 1907, regarding the raising of loans by local authorities in the open market.
- (3) Notification No. 475-A., dated the 24th September 1912, regarding the sanction and grant of loans under the Emergency Loans Act of 1897.

Accordingly, these rules have now been cancelled and new consolidated rules have been framed, which are published with Notification No. 1015-A. of to-day's date.

3. The process of consolidation has resulted in certain changes in the substance of the rules and in some amplification of their form. Opportunity has also been taken to make some further changes of substance, chiefly in the direction of removing restrictions which, in the opinion of the Government of India, it is no longer necessary to enforce in statutory rules. The more important of these changes are summarized below:—

(1) The restriction in the existing statutory rules (Notifications Nos. 44th A. and 475 A.), between 30 years as the maximum term up to which Local Governments may grant loans and 50 years as the limit for loans raised in the open market has been removed, the former limit being raised to 50 years.

(2) Rule 11 (2) of the existing rules regarding the grant of loans by Government (Notification No. 44th A.) requires a report to the Government of India in cases in which, when it is not proposed to take the whole of the loan during the current financial year, the portion to be taken in future years should be available of capital accounts. This provision has now been omitted.

(2) In the existing rules under the Emergency Loans Act (Notification No. 473-A.) it was contemplated that such borrowing, being for revenue purposes, would always be for a short time, ordinarily 6 years, and in no circumstances more than 15 years. This special restriction is not incorporated in the new rules.

(3) The restriction contained in rule 3 of the existing rules regarding the grant of loans by Government (Notification No. 4565-A.) which lays down a limit of 25 years for loans to be devoted to works which are mainly agricultural or commercial, such as a town hall, public gardens or market place, has been omitted.

(4) No mention is made in the new rules of the details which should be furnished in the account of the Special position, which a local authority has to furnish when applying for a loan or for permission to raise a loan.

(5) The new rules omit all reference to the larger Corporations, in view of the fact that applications by these bodies for loans from Government should be sent from the Provincial Loans Account, while, as regards loans raised in the open market, the borrowing of such Corporations is governed by special Acts.

(6) Local Governments have been given authority to sanction, subject to certain limits, the raising of loans in the open market without previous reference to the Government of India.

(7) Rule 3 of the existing rules by the raising of loans by local authorities in the open market (Notification No. 4565-A.), which prescribes that loans shall be expressed in rupee currency has been dropped, as the stipulation, usually read, relates to a point of form only. The substantive question of the policy and procedure is dropped in referring borrowing is referred to below.

(8) The new rules (Nos. 13) contain the additional condition that, except with the special sanction of the authority which sanctions the loan, the sinking fund payments must begin within one year from the date of raising the loan. In the case of a loan taken by instalments the date here referred to will be that on which the last instalment of the loan is taken.

4. The matters dealt with in (1), (2), (3), (4) and (5) of the preceding paragraph have been omitted from the new statutory rules as now amended, because the Government of India consider it desirable to reserve such questions from the category of local and fact rules and to leave more to the discretion of Local Governments, guided by the circumstances of each particular case. At the same time it is not their intention to indicate any essential departure from the principles underlying the former statutory restrictions, as stated at length in their Resolution No. 4554-A., dated the 24th October 1907. With a view to making the present codes self-contained the Government of India have directed that the opportunity of presenting the more important considerations which Local Governments and Administrations should bear in mind in submitting applications for loans or for sanction to the raising of loans in the open market.

(1) The laying of the maximum term for loans taken from Government from 25 to 20 years does not imply that the Government of India consider that this maximum limit should be worked up to in each case. In many instances indeed, a much lower limit is desirable. That in the case of loans raised for public or private enterprises or for commercial works, or for any other enterprises which should ordinarily be met from revenue, a much shorter period should usually be prescribed. In all cases an important factor in determining the period of the loan will be the nature of the works for which it is to be taken, and their utility and probable life; and in that connection the liability of the works to become "dead-weights" as well as their intrinsic durability should also be considered. It should also be borne in mind that the prolongation of the loan period does not involve a proportionate increase of the annual charges, and that in ordinary circumstances the policy of early repayment will most conduce to economical administration and the maintenance of the credit of the local body concerned.

(2) When a local authority desires to obtain a loan, the amount of its financial position, required under rule 4 (6), should be a sufficient basis to exhibit the financial position of the local authority for the three last preceding years, and to particular the following instructions should be observed:-

(a) The statement of the account should show only ordinary revenue. Receipts from loans or deposits, or the investments of sinking funds should be included as well as items of abnormal character which should be indicated separately when required.

(b) On the expenditure side interest on debt and payments to a sinking fund should be included, and all expenditure from loans, funds and investment of advances or deposits, should be included.

(c) Expenditure should be given of important variations in the amounts of revenue and expenditure.

(3) Similarly when a loan is required for the financing of extensive projects, the local body concerned should be required to submit a comprehensive view and loan programme and to indicate the expected annual distribution of the expenditure and borrowings involved. No expenditure should ordinarily be incurred on the works until the loan for the entire project has been sanctioned, and the project itself has received the technical and administrative approval of the authority with whom the power of sanction rests.

(4) In the case of loans raised by local bodies in the open market it is not present the practice, in all cases, to require that the date of issue shall receive the previous approval of the Government of India. In future this condition will only apply if (a) the loan exceeds Rs. 5 lakhs or has a currency exceeding 25 years, and then requires the sanction of the Government of India, and (b) if it is proposed to issue such a date later than the end of April and prior to the closure of the Government of India's regular loan for the same year.

(5) Applications from local bodies for permission to raise sterling loans cannot be favourably considered unless there is a reasonable prospect of the loans being raised at a rate of interest not more than 1 per cent above that at which the Government of India can itself at the time borrow in London and at a price not appreciably below par. Such applications require the approval of the Secretary of State and the date on which the local authority proposes to float the loan must also be referred for his previous approval. It is essential in the review of such proposals that a fully adequate should be made that the transactions should be conducted with all possible dispatch at every stage; and that the applications should be perfectly definite as all important points. The borrowing body is required to make its own arrangements for bringing out the capital to India and for remitting the interest to the holders of the stock.

9. When a Local Authority submits an application for a Government loan, the Local Government may grant the loan, provided that the following conditions are fulfilled, namely:—

- (a) the term of the loan does not exceed thirty years;
 - (b) funds are available from the grant placed at the Local Government's disposal for the purpose; and
 - (c) the rate of interest payable on the loan is not less than 4 per cent. per annum.
- If the above conditions are not fulfilled, the Local Government shall forward the application for the action of the Government-General in Council.

10. When a Local Authority submits an application for a non-Government loan, the Local Government may sanction the application, provided that the following conditions are fulfilled, namely:—

- (a) the term of the loan does not exceed thirty years; and
 - (b) the amount of the loan does not exceed five lakhs of rupees.
- If the above conditions are not fulfilled, the Local Government shall forward the application for the action of the Government-General in Council.

11. (1) In granting or sanctioning a loan, the Governor-General is to consider the Local Government's report, as the same may be, and may prescribe any further conditions not inconsistent with the Act, and with these rules, as he or it may think fit.

(2) In particular, and without prejudice to the generality of sub-rule (1) the following conditions shall be prescribed, namely:—

- (a) In the case of every loan, that the Local Government shall determine and the Local Authority shall pay the cost—
 - (i) of any inquiry made under rule 5,
 - (ii) of advertisements published under rule 7,
 - (iii) of expenditures made, and other measures of control taken, under rule 12, and
 - (iv) of any other proceedings taken by order of the Government-General in Council or the Local Government under these rules.
- (b) In the case of every loan, that the Local Authority shall furnish to the Account Officer of the province, and to the Local Government, any information which they may require regarding its funds and regarding the expenditure of the loan.
- (c) In the case of a Government loan, that the Local Government, if it considers that the Local Authority has failed to comply with any of the conditions prescribed in respect of the loan or with any of the requirements of these rules, may at any time order that no further payments shall be made in respect of such loan, and that any amount advanced with interest thereon shall be repaid immediately.
- (d) In the case of a non-Government loan, that the Local Authority shall not, without the previous approval of the Authority which sanctioned the loan, vary the date within which the amount of the loan, or of the first instalment of it, has been sanctioned, and that, if the loan is raised by instalments, the Local Authority shall report for the previous approval of the sanctioning Authority, the dates within which each further instalment is to be repaid.

12. The Local Government shall make such provision as it may deem necessary of works and survey—

(a) for ascertaining and securing that the money borrowed is duly applied to the purpose for which it has been borrowed, and that the unexpended balance of the loan is not employed otherwise than in accordance with these rules;

(b) where the loan is taken for any of the purposes specified in clauses (i), (iv), (vi) or (v) of sub-section (2) of section 3, for the proper inspection of the work to be carried out; provided that every such work and the accounts connected therewith shall be open at all times to the inspection of—

- (1) the Superintending or Executive Engineer in whose district the work is executed, and
- (2) of any person who may be authorized to inspect the accounts of the Local Authority, and
- (3) of any other person specially authorized by the Local Government in this behalf.

13. When the Local Government decides to attach any funds under section 5, the following provisions shall be observed, namely:—

- (a) The Local Government shall issue a notice in the Local Authority prohibiting the collection or accumulation of such funds by the Local Authority, and vesting the administration thereof in such officer as the Local Government may appoint. The Local Government shall cause such notice to be published in the local official gazette, and in such other manner as it may deem fit with the local notice of the area subject to the control of the Local Authority.
- (b) The officer appointed by the Local Government under section 5 shall pay the moneys collected or received under such attachment to the treasury, or, in the case of a Government loan, into the Government Treasury.
- (c) The said officer shall prepare the accounts of moneys so collected, and of the cost of collection, in such form as the Local Government may, from time to time, direct. He shall submit a copy of the accounts to the Local Authority, and shall cause a copy to be published in the local official notice.

14. If, on the completion of the work or the clearing of the amount of the transaction by which a Local Authority has borrowed money, the Local Government is satisfied that the unexpended balance of the money has not been spent on the purpose for which it was borrowed it shall proceed as follows, namely:—

- (a) In the case of a Government loan.—The Local Government shall direct that the unexpended balance shall be forthwith repaid to Government, and the principal of the debt reduced by an equivalent amount. The Local Government may direct such repayment as it may consider necessary on this account in the instalments fixed for the liquidation of the loan.

(4) In the case of a non-Government loan.—

(a) If the Local Government itself sanctioned the raising of the loan, or if the undersigned officers of the loan do not agree the amount which the Local Government is empowered to sanction as an approved loan, it may direct that the undersigned balance shall be valued either as the reduction in any way of the debt of the Local Authority, or in carrying out any works which that Authority is legally authorised to carry out.

(b) In cases not falling under clause (1) the Local Government may direct that the undersigned balance shall be valued in the provision in any way of the debt of the Local Authority, or, with the previous sanction of the Governor-General in Council, that the undersigned balance shall be utilised in the carrying out of any works which the Local Authority is legally authorised to carry out.

13. The following provisions shall apply to interest on Government loans—

(1) Interest shall be charged, at the rate agreed upon, yearly or half-yearly, on the Local Government may determine, and shall be received and paid on each instalment from the date on which such instalment is received by the Local Authority.

(2) The Local Government may, if it thinks fit, direct that compound interest at a rate not less than 4 per cent per annum shall be paid upon all overdue instalments of interest, or of principal and interest.

14. With the previous sanction of the Local Government, the Local Authority may, at any time, repay the whole or any part of a Government loan in advance of the period fixed by the conditions of the loan.

15. The accounts of every Government loan shall be kept by the Accountant-General in the Office of the province in which it is made.

16. If a loan is not repayable by instalments or at stated intervals, the Local Authority shall subscribe a sinking fund, in the following manner, namely—

(1) It shall pay out of its income, yearly or bi-yearly, into such fund, a sum which, accumulating at such rate of compound interest as the Authority may think fit, will be sufficient to secure the liquidation of the loan within the term fixed for its repayment;

(2) It shall make the best use of such payments within one year from the date of taking or raising the loan, to the satisfaction of the Government; and

(3) It shall submit the accounts of its sinking fund annually to the Accountant-General of the province, and shall at once make good from its income any amount by which its account for the fund is deficient, unless the Governor-General in Council orders a gradual amortisation.

17. Notwithstanding anything contained in the foregoing rules, it shall be permissible, with the previous sanction of the Governor-General in Council, for a District Board, which desires to construct a railway, partly from the proceeds of a loan raised for that purpose and partly from borrowed funds, to borrow money by means of debentures repayable at the option of such District Board.

FOREIGN AND POLITICAL DEPARTMENT.

RESOLUTIONS.

Delhi, the 2nd November 1914.

No. 819-W.—The following public statement is published for general information:—

In view of the outbreak of war between Great Britain and Turkey, which to the regret of Great Britain has been brought about by the Government's unprovoked and deliberate action, the Ottoman Government, in its anxiety to bring the Young Government to make the following public statement in regard to the Holy Places of Arabia including the Holy Mosques at Meccah and the port of Jeddah. In order that there may be no misunderstanding on the part of His Majesty's most loyal Muslim subjects as to the attitude of His Majesty's Government in this war in which no question of a religious character is involved. These Holy Places and Jeddah will be no less accessible to pilgrims from India to the Holy Places and Shimon in question. At the request of His Majesty's Government, the Governments of France and Russia have given their unqualified assurance.

Delhi, the 2nd November 1914.

No. 823-W.—The following statement, which was published in London on the 1st November 1914, by His Majesty's Principal Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, dated the 21st October 1914, is republished for general information:—

At the beginning of the war the British Government gave definite assurance that if Turkey attacked neutral her independence and integrity would be respected during the war and in the settlement of the terms of peace. In this France and Russia concurred. The British Government have since then endeavoured with the greatest patience and firmness to preserve friendly relations in spite of the increasing breaches of neutrality on the part of the Turkish Government at Constantinople in the case of the German vessels in the Straits. On Friday, the 20th of October 1914 the British Government learnt with the greatest regret that the Turkish ships of war had, without any declaration of war, without warning and without provocation of any sort, made serious attacks on the open, unfortified towns in the Black Sea of a friendly country, thus constituting an unprovoked violation of the most ordinary rules of international law, decency and respect. Even more the German Government, the Greek and British, took refuge at Constantinople. The attitude of the Turkish Government towards Great Britain has caused surprise and some uneasiness. From an angle by the Turkish Government to send out the German officers and crews of the Greek and British ships, have been found. It was well known that the Turkish Minister of War was decidedly pro-German in his sympathies, but it was not known that the more accurate of their colleagues, who had had experience of the friendship which Great Britain has always shown towards the Turkish Government, would have permitted and prevented that Government from entering upon the very risky policy of taking a part in the conflict on the side of Germany. Since the war German officers to leave warships have invaded Constantinople, have usurped the authority of the Government and have been able to secure the Sultan's Ministers to make up a policy of aggression. Great Britain, as well as France and Russia, has watched these proceedings with jealousy, protesting against the way in which they have been actually committed to territory in violation of the laws of the Ottoman Empire. Vigorously secured by the Government of Germany and Austria, the German military elements at Constantinople have been vigorously doing their utmost to force Turkey into war, led by their relatives in the armies of the Turks and by the tribes with which they have been so linked. The Minister of War, with his German advisers, has lately proposed an armed force for an attack on Egypt. The Royal and Turkish Army Corps have since their mobilisation, been seriously needing troops with, particularly to an invasion of Egypt and the Persian Gulf, from Arabia and India. A large body of British troops has been called out and armed to assist in this venture and some of these have crossed the Suez frontier. Transport has been despatched to be held in the Gulf of Aden. The notorious Sheikh Abdullah has been published and disseminated through India, an inflammatory document urging Mohammedans to fight against Great Britain. Durrat Pasha, who was so long engaged in intrigues as Copts against the British occupation and is now attached to the German Embassy at Constantinople, has been lately occupied in Syria trying to incite the people to take part in the revolt. Aggressive action was taken to be the result of the activity of the numerous German officers employed in the Turkish Army and acting under the orders of the German Government who have thus succeeded in turning the hands of the soldiers of the Sultan. German language cannot induce the loyalty to Great Britain of the seventy millions of Mohammedans in India and the feeling of the Mohammedan inhabitants of Egypt. They must look with distrust on the distinguished action, under foreign influence at Constantinople, which will inevitably lead to the disintegration of the Turkish Empire and which shows such forgetfulness of the many Mohammedans which Great Britain has shown in dealing with Turkey. They must feel, however the degradation of their religious and the right not to have them taken into consideration by Germany, they must distance themselves from a course of action that is so prejudicial to the position of Turkey itself. The Turkish Government constantly and without notice on Friday shut off telegraphic communication with the British Embassy at Constantinople. This is an insult the protest to further acts of aggression on her part and the British Government must take whatever action is required to protect British interests in British territory and also Egypt from attacks that have been made and are threatened.

PAPERS RELATING TO THE OFFICIALS OF THE PRINCE AND PRINCESS OF INDIA IN His Majesty's CONNECTION WITH THE WAR.

No. 1.

Message from the King-Emperor to the Prince and Princess of India, 8th September 1914.

The King-Emperor has been graciously pleased to send the following message to the Prince and Princess of India:—

TO THE PRINCE AND PRINCESS OF MY INDIA EMPIRE:

During the past few weeks the peoples of My whole Empire at Home and Overseas have moved with regulated ardour and purpose to sustain and contribute an unparalleled amount upon the solidarity of willpower and the price of mankind.

The national conflict is not of My making. My voice has been out throughout on the side of peace. My Hindustan earnestly strove to ally the claims of state and to appease differences with which My Empire was not concerned. Had I stood aside when, in defence of plunders to which My Empire was a party, the end of Belgium was sighted, and her cities laid desolate, when the very life of the French nation was threatened with extinction, I should have scorned My honour and given to destruction the liberties of My Empire and of mankind. I repeat that every part of the Empire is with me in this decision.

Profound regard for every faith and the pledged word of rulers and peoples is the common heritage of England and of India.

Among the many incidents that have marked the unanimous uprising of the populations of My Empire in defence of the unity and integrity, nothing has moved me more than the generous devotion to My Throne expressed back by My Indian subjects, and by the Parliamentary Triumvirate and the British Church of India, and their prodigious efforts of their lives and their resources in the cause of the Realm. There are words demand to be furnished on the spot, has touched My heart, and has inspired to the highest issues the love and devotion which, as I well know, have ever linked My Indian subjects and myself. It is to be said India's grateful message in the British sense of goodwill and fellowship, which greeted My return in February 1902 after the solemn ceremony of My Coronation Durbar at Datta, and I feel in this hour of crisis a full harvest of a noble fulfillment of the assurance given by you that the destinies of Great Britain and India are indissolubly linked.

No. 2.

House of Lords, Wednesday, 24 September 1914.

THE LORD PRIME MINISTER AND SECRETARY OF STATE FOR INDIA. (The Marquess of Crewe).—My Lords, I think it will be of interest to the House if I state what has happened in reference to the wonderful series of offers of assistance and support which have been received from the Indian Empire, and the response which has been made to those offers. In the first instance—although it is, of course, not the first in order of date—it will read to the House a Message which His Majesty has sent to the Princess and people of India.

The King-Empress's message is as follows:—

[See No. 1.]

I received yesterday a succession of offers of service and money made in India to the Viceroy, of which I think it will be interesting if I survey the general gist to your Lordships. The offers of the Indian Native States, numbering nearly 100 altogether, here with one accord rallied to the defence of the Empire and offered their personal services and the resources of their States. Some even the more Prince and nobles who volunteered for service to the war the Viceroy has chosen the Chiefs of Jodhpur, Bikaner, Kashmir, Kathiawar, Raichur, Sindh, and Patiala, Sir Parash Singh (Rajput of Jodhpur), the Heri Appanah of Nepal, and a brother of the Maharaja of Cochin, together with other Princes belonging to noble families. It will, I know, be of interest to your Lordships' House, when he has so many personal friends, to know that the veteran Sir Parash Singh, in spite of his seventy years, refused to be denied the right of serving the King-Empress in person and is himself going to the front, accompanied by his great nephew, the reigning Maharaja, who is only sixteen years of age and who was brought up at Wellington College and has also, perhaps, become known to some of your Lordships. These have already joined the Expeditionary Force. There are some other Princes, the Chiefs of Jaipur and Dholpur, and the Maharaja of Swat—whose names I have not time to mention—who, together with the Heri Appanah of Nepal, were, to their great regret, prevented from joining their States.

There are twenty-seven States in India that provide Imperial Service Troops and immediately on the outbreak of war the services of all of those troops were placed at the disposal of the Viceroy. From twelve of those States the Viceroy has accepted contingents of Infantry, Cavalry, Rajputs, and mountaineers, and also the Sikhs and Camel Corps; and some of those have already embarked on active service. Further than that, a number of Chiefs, entirely of their own volition, assembled to provide a hospital ship to be named "The Loyalty," for the use of the Expeditionary Force. I think I mentioned to the House before that the Maharaja of Mysore had placed a sum of Rs. 25 lakhs at the disposal of the Government for expenditure in connection with the Expeditionary Force. The Viceroy adds that the Maharaja of Swat, too, has shown in the expression of the hospital ship the idea of which was started by himself and that entirely independently the Maharaja of Bikaner has placed large sums of money at the disposal of the Government of India for the purpose of providing a great number of houses or residences. From Maharajah Lodhiana in the Punjab and from two States in Baluchistan three companies of cavalry with arms to be supplied and maintained by the Chiefs and the Maharaja of those States. The Maharaja of Rewa, a distinguished Chief in Central India, has offered his troops, his treasury, and even his private jewellery to be placed at the disposal of His Majesty the King-Empress. I ought to add that a number of Chiefs, the Maharaja of Kashmir, the Maharaja of Baroda, besides the Maharaja of Swat, the Maharaja of Indore, and the Maharaja of Cochin have besides independently contributed large sums to the Fund of His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales. The Maharaja of Kashmir gave a large subscription to the Indian Fund, and what will amaze to your Lordships, when a new departure is the case of an Indian Prince, presented at a meeting of 2,000 people held at Bikaner and himself delivered a stirring speech, as the result of which large subscriptions were volunteered. The Maharaja of Bikaner offers, free of charge, all the horses belonging to his State for use which the Government may find it convenient to accept. The Nizam of Hyderabad has made a similar offer, as also have the Jam of Jeypore and some of the other Bombay Chiefs. The Viceroy adds that every Chief in the Bombay Presidency has placed the whole of the resources of his State at the disposal of Government.

Then we go further still. The Maharaja of Chitral—a name which evokes memories of gallant a different kind—and the various tribes in the Khyber Agency have sent loyal messages and offers of support to His Majesty's Government. All India, however remote, and some of the quite small States, have expressed their desire to give such assistance as they can. The Viceroy goes on to say, very truly, that just not far from Calcutta had a slaughter, previous offers of assistance were received from the Nepal Durbar. The Nepal Government have placed the whole of their military resources at the disposal of the British Government, and the Prime Minister, who is known also I am sure to some of your Lordships because he has been here, offered a sum of Rs. 3 lakhs to the Viceroy for the purchase of machine guns or field equipment for some of the British Gurkha regiments and also gave large donations from his private purse to the Indian Relief Fund and to the Prince of Wales's Fund. He also offered Rs. 50,000 for the purchase of machine guns for the 6th Gurkha Rifles.

Then we go still further on, to the Marathas. We find that the Maharaja has offered 1,600 Maratha troops for service and to the British Government. He also places that innumerable Marathas are offering up prayers for the success of British arms. In fact, there is only one spirit and one sentiment over the whole of India. The Viceroy has received thousands of telegrams and letters from every quarter expressing loyalty and the desire to assist, and the local contributions have also reached a vast number. They have come from every community, from all manner of different associations, religious and political, from all the different castes, and from countless numbers of individuals offering their services at their personal services. The Viceroy mentions in his telegram some typical examples: the All-India Muslim League and a number of other Muslim associations in Bengal and Revenue; the Trustees of the Aligarh College; others from Delhi and Oudh; another from the Khairi community, who are followers of a gentleman also well known to your Lordships, the Aga Khan; the French Mission, Laigue, the Relief Landholders' Association; the Telegraphists of Oudh; the Association of the Punjab Officers; the Provisional Congress of Madras and of the United Provinces, which are leaders of the Indian Congress, which is well known by name at any rate to most of your Lordships; and Punjab Association representing the orthodox Sikhs, and the Punjab community of Benares.

There has also been a number of enthusiastic offers of pecuniary help, of some of which I hope we shall be able gratefully to avail ourselves. The Societies at Madras offered 500 houses as a gift in an early stage in the proceedings, and the Imperial Indian Relief Fund, which was started, of course, exclusively in aid of any need here, for the relief of distress caused in India, itself has been responsible to with great enthusiasm and vigour. There was a certain number of Indian Christians Europe at the time. These have not been any more backward in offering their assistance and help. I feel that all these who were in those parts the Maharaja and the Maharani Maji Sahib of Benares contributed to the Indian Relief Fund and offered the whole resources of their State to Government. The Rajah of Alkoteh, a Pandey Chief, offered his personal services and the Raja of Pudukkottai placed his entire resources at the disposal of Government. The Governor of Travancore placed at my disposal the whole of his troops and the resources of his State. The son of the Mir of Khairpur, a Mohammedan Ruler in North-West India, offered his personal services. And I feel also that of the British Indian residents in this country a great number, young and old, have shown their own desire to offer some form of assistance—personal service, or medical service, or some form of contribution to the Empire—is a most heart and generous manner.

Thus afternoon I received a telegram from the Viceroy describing what happened yesterday at the meeting of the Legislative Council at Simla. The Viceroy tells me that in opening the proceedings, the members stood while he conveyed to them the Message from the King—the Message which I read to the House at the commencement of my remarks. The Viceroy made a speech, in which he said that he was sure he was expressing the views of the Council and of the whole of India in avowing His Majesty's confidence in loyalty and devotion. He went on to dwell upon the causes which led up to the war and the world and Indian manner in which it had been thrust upon the British Empire, and he explained the whole-hearted efforts which had been made by Sir Edward Grey for the preservation of peace so long as such preservation was possible. He expressed, of course, at his own command also, the warmest gratitude for the attitude of the people of India which has been evoked in what I have just stated to your Lordships. Then when the Viceroy had concluded, Mr. Chittam, representing the Indian community, expressed the gratitude which they all felt for His Majesty's Message, and asked the Viceroy to assure His Majesty that the whole country was with him in this hour of stress and would loyally and devotedly do everything possible to secure the success of the British arms. He then passed the following Resolution—

That in view of the great and arduous work now being done in Persia and India which war against foreignness has been forced to enter by obligations of honor and duty to preserve the nationality generated by treaty and the attitude of a friendly State, the members of this Council, in avowing the feeling that animates the whole of the people of India, desire to give expression to their feelings of unwavering loyalty and enthusiastic devotion to their King Emperor and an assurance of their unflinching support to the British Government. They desire at the same time to express the opinion that the people of India, in addition to the military assistance now being afforded by India to the Empire, would wish to share in the heavy financial burden now imposed by the war on the United Kingdom, and request the Government of India to take this most late consideration and that it is to maintain the unity of India with the Empire. They request His Majesty the President to be so good as to convey the substance of this Resolution to His Majesty the King Emperor and His Majesty's Government."

That was recorded by one of the principal Mohammedan leaders, the Raja of Mahmoodabad, who made an important speech. It was supported by one of the Punjab Members, and was further supported in an eloquent speech—the Viceroy states—by Mr. Madhava, one of the leading representatives of Indian opinion. It was also supported by a distinguished Mohammedan gentleman, Sir Fazlul Karim Khan, who spoke for Bombay; by Mr. Chittam, speaking for the Mohammedans of Eastern Bengal, and by Mr. Banerjee, who is well known as an exponent of liberal views in Bengal. Mr. Banerjee, in supporting the Resolution, pointed out further—

"It was the duty of the Council to form the sentiments of support and enthusiastic loyalty by which every province of the Empire was animated. They desired to tell the world, the peoples of England and all else where it might concern, that their loyalty was undiminished, but that behind the sacred ranks of one of the bravest armies of the world were the vast and noble-hearted resources and peoples of India banded together as one man."

The Viceroy replied, and the Resolution was carried without a single dissentient. I think, my Lords, that we must all agree that this demonstration of true and heart-felt loyalty to India to the King Emperor and to the Government is one of the most gratifying facts on the outcome of the present war. All we all know, the devotion and the offer of support from the self-sacrificing Dominions of the Crown have been not less striking. These Governments are manned by people of one own blood, with countless sacrifices and credit one which could reach these shores. But it is, perhaps, even more striking, certainly not less gratifying, that those who speak for the various States in India—more which represent a civilization of almost untold antiquity; more which have been warlike in arms, is able, and in the attitude of government—should it so whole-hearted a manner only record the British Government, and, most of all, read the presence of their Emperor at such a moment as this; and I am certain that the House will desire to express, through those of us who are entitled to speak for it, its appreciation of their attitude and our recognition of the part that they have played and are playing.

THE MEMBERS OF LEGISLATIVE.—My Lords, we have listened to an announcement from the noble Member who seemed to me to be one of the most gratifying circumstances which I venture to say will prove to be of historic importance in the annals of the British Empire. And but one, before I go further, express the admiration with which we listened to the words in which His Majesty the King was pleased to acknowledge the efforts which his Government had received from the peoples and Princess of India. I do not think it would have been possible to express in simpler, more dignified, or more appropriate language the feelings which animate us at this moment and which lead us to embark in this great struggle with absolute confidence in the justice of our cause. The noble Marquess spoke of the "worldwide series of affairs" which have been suggested from the "regions of India." It is indeed a wonderful series of affairs, and they were doubly appreciated by those of us who have been concerned with Indian affairs as we listened to the noble Marquess while he travelled over, not only the Indian Empire in the more restricted sense of the term, but the nucleus of the States which adjoin it, and described to us how, one and all of them had come forward at this critical moment to assure us of their support in whatever form they were able to provide it.

During from a speech in support of the Resolution passed in the Legislative Council the other day, the noble Marquess spoke of the "millions of men and peoples" of India. It is indeed a great thing that these millions of men and peoples should have joined in this movement without divisions to geographical limits, to religious distinctions, to political divisions, or to differences of race. We know how deep these cleavages are, and how often it is that they separate one part of India from another. But in this case they were not allowed to prevail, and I am sure that the result will produce an immense impression not only upon the people of the country but upon all who, no matter in what part of the world, are conscious spectators of the great struggle which is now passing.

The noble Marquess will not think it overstated on my part if I say that I returned with special interest to that part of his speech in which he gave us an account of the manner in which the ruling Chieftains of India have now formed an able council. There was a time when I had the honour of enjoying the friendship and intimacy of a number of these Chieftains; and I had then deeply appreciated the sincerity of their desire to have, whenever the opportunity was offered to them, a useful and honourable part in the affairs of the Empire. Their generosity is proverbial. The word "generosity" is often coupled with the word "pride," and in India, as the noble Marquess knows, we have every reason to be aware of what "pride" generosity means. But on this case, great as that generosity has been, they have given us a great deal more. I will remember the pride which these great Chieftains and rulers took in the Imperial Service Corps stationed in the time of my predecessor, Lord Dufferin; and I know that it was their ambition that these Imperial Service Corps should not merely be as they were, unceremoniously efficient and smart as parade, but that they should be given a chance of fighting alongside of our troops in the cause of the Empire. I heard with great interest the noble Marquess's eulogies of the Princess who are to accompany the Indian Forces on this campaign—with some of them I have the honour to be acquainted, others are the sons of leaders who were well known to me—and I may perhaps be permitted to echo what he said with regard to one whom I am able to describe as an old personal friend of my own. I mean the Regent of Jodhpore, better known to his subjects as the Peshwa Singh. I also heard with special satisfaction the noble Marquess's account of the support which he was receiving from the Maharaja of Nepal. We owe a great debt to the Royal Government, for it is with their assistance and encouragement that we are able to raise these magnificent Chieftains, of whom I am glad to know a certain number will accompany the Indian Expedition.

THE MARQUESS OF CAMERON.—SIR JOHN LALOR.

THE MARQUESS OF CAMERON.—I am glad to hear that I doubt, my Lords, whether every one in this country realizes how great a share it is that those ruling Chieftains who have come forward in this way upon our side are doing, or how indispensable a position they occupy in their own country. I wonder, for example, whether every one realizes that the Maharaja of Mysore, to whose assistance the noble Marquess referred, sides over a population which amounts to perhaps the whole of the population of Scotland. I wonder whether any one dares to add that the Maharaja of Gwalior has more subjects than the King of Denmark; or that the Nizam of Hyderabad governs a people twice as numerous as the people of the Netherlands and three times as numerous as the people of Ireland. It is so small a thing that these rulers, standing where they do in our Indian system, should have come forward without exception and given such material proof of their desire to help us. I venture on the part of those who sit on this side of the House to congratulate the noble Marquess on the manner in which the India Office has been approached at this critical time, and I add to that our congratulations to the Viceroy to whom at a moment when he must have many and pressing duties, the magnificent response of the people of India, under their chieftains and their governors. I am sure it will be the glory of the House, in whatever way may be found, that this cordial thanks should be offered to the people of India and to the Indian Chieftains who have stood by us in so conspicuous a manner.

Chair of Commerce, Wednesday, 24th September 1914.

SIR H. SCOTT BROWNE asked the Under-Secretary of State for India whether he could make any statement as to effects of help made in India in connection with the war?

THE UNDER-SECRETARY OF STATE FOR INDIA (Mr. Charles Roberts).—In answer to the question: I ask the House to allow me to read a telegram of very considerable length from the Viceroy to the Secretary of State, which really puts before the nature of a statement that strictly answers to a question, but in view of the importance of the matter, I hope the House will allow me to read it.

The Secretary of State for India has received the following telegram from the Viceroy, dated 24th September 1914:

Following is a summary of offers of service, money, etc., made in India to the Viceroy. The rulers of the Native States in India, who number nearly seven hundred in all, have with one accord rallied to the 3-Game of the Empire and offered their personal services and the resources of their States for the war. From among the many Princes and Nobles who have volunteered for active service, the Viceroy has selected the Chief of Jodhpore, Bikaner, Kolhapur, Ratlam, Indore, and Palwal, Sir Faruk Singh, Begum of Jodhpore, and the Maharaja of Bikaner and a brother of the Maharaja of Cochin State, together with other leaders of noble families. The Viceroy for Faruk would not be desired his right to serve the King Emperor is ripe of his seventy years, and his nephew, the Maharaja, who is but sixteen years old, goes with him.

Telegraph—From the Viceroy to the Secretary of State for India, dated 28 September 1914.

In opening the proceedings of the Legislative Council, Viceroy began by asking the members to stand while he read them a message from His Majesty. [See No. 1.] Viceroy said he thought he was forming words of Council, and of which he felt it right to say they were profoundly grateful to His Majesty for goodness and strong message, and can only assure His Majesty of unflinching loyalty and devotion in this time of crisis and emergency. Subsequently in explaining the circumstances leading up to the war, the Viceroy emphasised the wicked and wicked manner in which it had been chosen upon the British Empire, and showed how the whole-hearted efforts made for peace by Sir Edward Grey had been rendered futile by the absolute disregard of Germany for international obligations in the matter of the treatment of Belgium, and the infamous proposals of Germany to buy British neutrality at the expense of the independence of Belgium, and the integrity of France and her possessions. He drew attention to the statement by the German Chancellor that Germany had done a glorious wrong to Belgium. He said: "War is a terrible and horrible thing, but there is a worse thing than war, and that is national dishonour and failure of a nation to keep its engagements."

He expressed profound satisfaction that the attitude of the British Government had been as thoroughly appreciated in India and met with such warm support. The valuable effect of military assistance from British troops and countless offers of personal service and material help from British India had touched him deeply and given him more proof of the deep loyalty of India. The fact that the Government of India were in a position to help the mother country by the dispatch of such a large army even if their armed forces were a separate part of his absolute confidence in the ability of troops and loyalty of India. He trusted this might be fully recognised in India and abroad. Soldiers would have to be made but people of India, standing shoulder to shoulder, would cheer them from the trenches, but do all in their power to maintain internal order and secure triumph of arms of King-Emperor.

Cautious legal messages and warm response to appeal for relief funds filled him with satisfaction and profound impression that Government would be supported by the determination, courage, and confidence of the whole country. Viceroy added following words: "It was marvellous with confidence and pride that I was able to offer to His Majesty the first and largest military force of British and Indian troops for service in Europe that has ever left the shores of India. I am confident that the honour of this land and of the British Empire may be safely entrusted to my brave soldiers, and that they will acquit themselves ably and give measure their high traditions of military ability and courage. To the people of India I would say at this time, let us display to the world as a people of unity, of self-sacrifice, and of unswerving confidence under all circumstances in the justice of our cause and in the assistance that God will direct the right." Subsequently he dealt with questions of integration in British colonies, concluding with the following words: "I appeal to the Indian people to wear this question in no narrow light. India has her rights but equally have the Colonies. Should it be decided to negotiate with the Colonial Governments, I am confident that they with their strong Imperial traditions will seek to do so in no narrow or selfish spirit, provided that we on our side show our readiness to meet them half way. The fact that it is a few weeks' time our splendid Indian soldiers may be fighting side by side and shoulder to shoulder with our Colonial fellow soldiers against the common enemy is a guarantee of fair and generous treatment on both sides in a controversy of this nature."

Mr. C. Chatterjee, on behalf of Council, expressed their respectful gratitude to His Majesty's kind and gracious message and asked Viceroy to assure His Majesty that in thousands of true white country men with him and would loyally and devotedly do everything possible to secure success of British arms. He then obtained leave to move following resolution: "That in view of the great war involving such momentous issues now in progress in Europe into which our August Sovereign has been forced to enter by obligations of honour and duty to preserve the neutrality guaranteed by treaty and the friendship of a friendly State, the members of this Council in voting the feeling that sustains the whole of the people of India, desire to give expression to their feelings of unswerving loyalty and unshaken devotion to their King-Emperor and in assurance of their unhesitating support to the British Government. They desire at the same time to express the opinion that the people of India in addition to the military assistance now being afforded by India to the Empire would wish to share in the heavy financial burden now imposed by the war on the United Kingdom, and request the Government of India to take this now into consideration and take to consideration the unity of India with the Empire. They request His Excellency the Viceroy to be so good as to convey the substance of this resolution to His Majesty the King-Emperor and His Majesty's Government."

He commenced with a comparison between England's present attitude and that taken up by her during the great Napoleonic wars, pointing out how in the present conflict, as then, undertaken by fear of consequences or claims of self-interest, our sturdy folk are the possessors of unflinching passion, against the brute force of misdeeds. He then expressed warm appreciation felt by all Indians at Viceroy's prompt action in sending the King of India's whole-hearted loyalty, thus giving as a united and united representative of Indian people. Though there may be internal differences and differences of opinion within the British Empire, in face of outside danger all rally round England to support those of which all are proud to be citizens. Indians of all races, religions, and opinions, hope for England's victory with loyal sentiment based on gratitude, confidence, and confidence in future.

Encouragement of British rule is an essential condition of world and material progress of country, hence all people that Indian fighting men will take the field in Europe alongside English troops. Sympathetic Indian Army under British guidance may be needed to render a good account of itself under all circumstances. Further and wider means for India's support of British cause complete confidence in the justice of it are hoped by published correspondence. India knows deeply its people heartily of England's confidence by action and sacrifice as well as by words. The sentiment, expressed at several meetings throughout India, must be made here in showing clearly to Viceroy that all are and will be ready to bear their share in the financial burden imposed by war. He moves the resolution with confidence that he will have the full support of whole Council, who will all wish to assist in carrying out and completing the noble mission of the Empire.

King of Mahendradel, in attending the convention, stated that it represented the very essence of Indian public opinion, and that Indians are only too proud to take their share of the Imperial burden. Future measures of India in war and peace should be in England's disposal. Exposed sleep grow take on behalf of India her Viceroy's assistance in giving Indian troops despatched to Europe which has made India partly lost proud of her position in the Empire.

Indian Duke Singh, Peshwa, in supporting resolution, expressed righteousness of England's cause. India's assistance in the cause is before of England's Empire is not necessary to some of duty and gratitude has also to feeling that her interests are indissolubly connected with those of England, her assistance throughout India at the same time to India by sending her troops to England. But England needs money as well as men, and this will be given ungrudgingly by all.

Following passages occurred in an eloquent speech by Mr. Macdonald: India discharges her duty at this present moment and, God willing, will loyally and unflinchingly discharge that duty, that no nation of men or money will be grudged to enter that the British arms shall triumph, in order that the success of the British arms should establish the triumph of right over might, of civilization over the savage barbarism of the world, of ordered freedom over military slavery, and of everything that men have held dear in the last hundred years over all that seems to be ugly and despicable at the present moment in the things that are going on in Belgium and other countries. The appeal that England made in days gone by she has made now in respect of calling upon Englishmen to do their duty, and in this hour of crisis it is her proud privilege to call upon all the citizens of the British Empire to rise as one man and manfully to discharge the duties which the situation has imposed upon them. My Lord, India will heartily and dutifully respond to that call.

Mr. Mackintosh, on behalf of Her Majesty's Government, said that resolution embodied the feeling of the whole country which desired to prove unity of Empire by sacrificing life and property in support of England. Great has indeed India in realising how dear British rule is to them, and they regard the loss of Indian troops fighting with British in Europe as a great pledge of equal citizenship in Empire. Resolutions will be passed by all India with proud approval.

Mr. Chatterjee, speaking for Mahomedans of Eastern Bengal, pointed out that the war had demonstrated to the whole world how truly united was the Empire.

Mr. Banerjee, in supporting the resolution, pointed out that it was duty of the Council to focus sentiment of unshakable loyalty and support, which animated every province of the Empire; they desire to tell the world, the citizens of England and all else whom it might concern, that their loyalty was not by deep but behind the curtain ranks of one of the fairest scenes of the world were the valiant and indomitable men and peoples of India banded together as one man.

Every one of the numerous resolutions passed also upon in favour of the resolution, and the proceedings were marked by a genuine ring of great enthusiasm.

In replying to the debate the Viceroy expressed appreciation of remarkable demonstration of loyalty and of unity with the Empire; he fully recognised that the views expressed by Honorable Members represented those of the whole country. India had gloriously given her sons to fight the moment for India by side with the sons of Great Britain, Canada, Australia, and New Zealand, and might with confidence and pride look forward to their achievements on the battle-field being worthy of the best and bravest traditions of that country. That India had been in a position to send a military force of over 15,000 soldiers to fight for the Empire was a legitimate source of pride and satisfaction to her. Viceroy mentioned the reports of Indian Chiefs whose efforts to go to front had been accepted, and added that Bengal had generously placed before at the disposal of Government, with a most friendly sentiment had been received from the Amir of Afghanistan. That Honorable Members should consider to share the financial burden was natural and legitimate suggestion with which Government of India was in complete sympathy so far as legitimately possible, having due regard to interests of Indian taxpayers. India bound to suffer financially through falling off of all custom and outdoor receipts. We could ordinarily have asked those Government to bear whole cost of Expeditionary Force and thus effected financial savings, but Government had felt this would not be in accord with wishes of the people, and that opinion was reinforced by the resolution moved and speeches made. His accepted resolution on behalf of Government also would have recommended that India should accept such portion of cost of force as would have fallen upon India had troops continued in the country; amount might be roughly estimated at one million sterling up to end of financial year. Viceroy then referred to expenditure of 50 lakhs by Sikhs which would be placed at disposal of His Majesty's Government as aid financial contribution. There was nothing like generosity in arms and joint participation in danger and hardships of war to level differences, inspire mutual respect, and foster friendship, and Viceroy added: "I cannot help feeling that as a consequence better relations will be promoted amongst the component parts of the British Empire, many misunderstandings will be removed, and cordiality and goodwill will be created in an inevitable and generous manner. In this sense our will good may come to India, and this is the desire of us all."

House of Lords, Wednesday, 16th September, 1914.

THE LORD PRIME SEAL AND SECRETARY OF STATE FOR INDIA. (The Marquess of Crewe) moved a resolution to the effect that the ordinary pay and other ordinary charges of any troops despatched from India to the east of Suez, as well as the ordinary charges of any vessels belonging to the Government of India that might be employed in this expedition which would have been charged upon the resources of India if such troops or vessels had remained in that country at any station, should continue to be chargeable, provided that if it should be necessary to replace the troops or vessels as withdrawn by other vessels or forces, then the expense of sailing, unloading, and providing such vessels and forces should be repaid by the Imperial Government. The Marquess said, he said, to be passed by both Houses in consequence of the promise of the Government of India in 1913. Continuing the noble Marquess said: I need not add anything to what I said a short time ago as to the pride we all feel at the Indian Forces fighting side by side with British soldiers and the ardour of the self-sacrificing Hindus in this mighty conflict. The pride with which this Government was moved, by such Houses of Parliament was shared by the whole country, as was shown by what appeared in the Press last day. It is a most remarkable and most remarkable fact. And the cry of the news in India that Indian troops were coming home was far and wide. It is a splendid tribute to the justice of our rule there, and it is also an evidence of how high the heart of India beats in sympathy with us in this great struggle in which we are engaged. (Cheers.) India desires to play her part, not merely by sending troops, but also she has taken the view that at any rate she shall not in any way profit or make any sort of saving through the absence of those troops from India, and the consequent absence of the necessity of paying them. The President on this subject is very valuable. Sometimes India has been asked to pay a large amount in respect of troops sent to various parts of the world. In some other cases the whole charge has been undertaken by the country. Both in India and here the proposal is regarded as thoroughly fair and reasonable, considering the magnitude of the struggle in which we are engaged. It was said by a Conservative, which was said 18 years ago, that war in Europe could not be taken as involving the direct interests of India, but for a war such as that there is no precedent, and no argument of a merely technical kind can be made. Therefore, as we stand at present, and speaking without prejudice of what may happen in the future as to the duration of the war or the results of other factors about which it is impossible to express any opinion at present, I think this arrangement is a reasonable one both from the Indian and the British point of view, and I trust therefore that your Lordships will be able to assent to the resolution.

THE LORD CHANCELLOR OF EXCHEQUER.—Perhaps as one who was connected for some years with the Government of India I may be allowed to say a word on the statement which has just been made by the noble Marquess, the Leader of the House. I am the more anxious to do so because on the two previous occasions upon which the despatch of our Indian contingents has been mentioned, I was unfortunately absent myself. I should like to take this opportunity of joining the noble Marquess in a tribute of admiration for the splendid spirit of loyalty which has been shown by the Dominions and all classes and creeds in India, and further to offer my congratulations to the Viceroy in particular, and the Government of India, for the substantial and magnificent offer of assistance which they have been able to make to His Majesty's Government. From my own experience I can bear out what the noble Marquess has said. During the last ten days that I have been engaged elsewhere to support has raised some enthusiasm among the thousands of people I have met since then the splendid offer of the Indian contingents. (Cheers.) Now the noble Marquess takes us a step further. He makes a notice to the House which is the effect that the ordinary charges of these troops should continue to be borne by the Indian Government, in other words, that the Indian Government should derive no profit from their patriotism in this respect. In ordinary circumstances I might have felt some doubt about such a proposal, but there are some facts which are in our policy in regard to this matter, that is, I am bound to say in some cases not altogether creditable to ourselves or to our standard of civility and honour. But these circumstances have largely changed in recent years, and bravely speaking, the principle which is now observed, I think the noble Marquess will agree, is when the Indian troops are employed outside that country the expenditure shall not fall on them. That was certainly the case with regard to the expedition which I had the honour to despatch from India in 1900 to the relief of the Legation at Peking. (For the noble Marquess has told us today that this is an unexpected case.) This is the case where the troops from India are spontaneously taking part in what may be held to be for the interests of India as being included in the whole Empire. I conclude that the proposal of the noble Marquess is one that has been made to him by the Government of India. I think it is one which your Lordships can well accept.

No. 7.

House of Commons, Wednesday, 16th September 1914.

THE PRIME MINISTER. (Mr. Asquith).—I beg to move, "That His Majesty having directed a military force, consisting of British and Indian troops, charged upon the resources of India, it be decreed that the ordinary pay and other ordinary charges of any troops so despatched, as well as the ordinary charges of any vessels belonging to the Government of India that may be employed in this expedition which would have been charged upon the resources of India if such troops or vessels had remained in that country or been adjusted, shall continue to be chargeable, provided that, if it should be necessary to replace the troops or vessels as withdrawn by other vessels or forces, then the expense of re-organising, unloading, and providing such vessels and forces shall be repaid out of any moneys which may be provided by Parliament for the purposes of the said expedition."

The Motion which stands in my name, and which I present now to move, is one which I am quite certain will be received with complete interest and gratitude in every quarter of the House. I do not think that it is all the moving exhibitions of national and Imperial patriotism which the War has evoked there is any which has more nobly and rightly involved the feelings of this House and the country, than the passage sent by the Viceroy of India concerning the magnificent response which the people

5. After a day has been fixed for the hearing of a cause, the Registrar shall send notice to all parties that the cause will be heard on the appointed day.

6. At the hearing of a cause the party by whom it has been instituted shall begin, unless the Judge shall otherwise order. If there are several claimants the Judge shall direct which of them shall begin. At the hearing of claims or joint capture the persons claiming to be joint captors shall begin.

7. No ship shall be condemned at the hearing in the absence of an appearance on its behalf until six months have elapsed from the service of the writ, which shall be notified by an affidavit of service (Appendix A, Form No. 10), unless there be on the ship papers and on the evidence, if any, of the witnesses from the captured ship sufficient proof that such ship belongs to the enemy, or is otherwise liable to condemnation.

8. Where in two or more causes claims have been made by or on behalf of the same persons, and the ship papers in such causes are on the file and in the custody of the Court, any party may, by leave of the Judge at the hearing, produce and give in evidence in any one of such causes the ship papers brought in and filed in any other of such causes, and may, by leave of the Judge, produce and give in evidence in the same before the Court any ship papers found on board any ship and any deposition made in any other of such causes.

18. The Judge may disallow any questions put in cross-examination of any party or witness which may appear to him to be irrelevant or not relevant to any matter proper to be inquired into in the cause.

19. Any person wilfully disobeying any order or subpoena regarding his attendance for the purpose of being examined, or cross-examined, or producing any document, or on attending, refusing to answer any proper question, shall be deemed guilty of contempt of Court and may be dealt with accordingly.

20. Where any ship papers or other documents have to be translated for use in a cause, such translation shall be made by an interpreter, appointed by the party who desires to use such translation or if necessary, by a person appointed by the Judge for the purpose by the Judge. The parties to any proceedings may agree, or, if there is no party other than the Crown or the captor, the proper officer of the Crown may direct, which and what parts, if any, of the ship papers and documents shall be translated.

5. Evidence may be given in vivo or by affidavit or by documents, and the evidence shall, on the application of either party, but at the expense of the first instance of the party on whose behalf the application is made, be taken down by a shorthand writer appointed by the Court, and a transcript of the shorthand writer's notes, certified by him to be correct, shall be admitted to prove the said evidence of the witnesses as an objection to the Registrar's report.

6. When a reference has been heard, the Registrar shall draw up a report in writing of the result of the reference, showing any further particulars and reasons that may be necessary. The Registrar shall report whether any and what part of the costs of the reference should be allowed and to whom.

The report shall be in the Form No. 45 of Appendix A, or in such other form as the circumstances of the case may require.

7. The claimant, who has received notice from the Registry that the report is ready, shall, within six days from the time when he has received such notice, file the report and serve a notice of such filing on the opposite party, and shall forthwith apply for an order (Appendix A, Form No. 46) confirming the report.

The Standard Barometer and Thermometer are read at 8 a.m., 10 a.m., 2 p.m., and 4 p.m., and the daily means are obtained by the application of hourly corrections, deduced from twenty years' observations. The column of the Barometer is twenty-two feet above the level of the sea, and the anemometer of the Rain Gauge is two feet from the ground. The wind, rain and general weather registered are for the current Civil Day—from midnight to midnight.

The total quantity of rain collected from January 1st to 31st 1914 was, the average day for the same period being 40.45 inches.
